"Are You A Survivor?"

There are many skills and abilities that firefighters need to operate safely and effectively at structural fires. Many of these are tactical skills, things like search ability, forcible entry skills, staying oriented. But there is another group of skills that firefighters often ignore, or maybe don't even know about. Survival skills also include how you will respond when faced with sudden and deadly situations.

"Rapid Intervention School"

This program will take a look at the issue of rapid intervention and the many individual topics that need to be developed to create a successful team.
